We ended the quarter with record AUM and momentum in the specialized verticals within real estate in which we compete. Our existing strategies continue to attract new capital and our newly launched Logistics strategies are already active in the markets. We continue to see significant growth opportunity for Bridge’s unique investment approach and the information advantage we gain with our forward vertical integration and property management. We are proud that our third quarter results represent new highs for fee-paying AUM, fee-related earnings, and distributable earnings.”

Jonathan Slager, Bridge’s Chief Executive Officer, added “commercial real estate fundamentals continue to be healthy and are recovering in tandem with economic growth. Bridge took advantage of attractive demand over the third quarter to raise a record $1.5 billion of equity commitments and also to deploy a record $1.3 billion of equity in new investments. Bridge also accelerated the pace of investment realizations in the third quarter to take advantage of strong valuations, especially for multifamily assets. With $2.1 billion of dry powder and $302 million of unrealized performance fees, the future looks bright for continued growth in fee revenue.”
